

Typical Teenagers!

Some people think that teenagers are:

- lazy,
- irresponsible,
- rude to their parents.

But most teenagers:

- work hard in school,
- respect their parents,
- plan for the future.

Many British teenagers like school (they like meeting their friends and learning something new).

Music and money are also important to British teenagers. In Britain some teenagers have part-time jobs (like delivering newspapers and baby-sitting) to earn some money.

Popular free time activities are: sports, computer games, cinema, shopping, watching videos and TV, reading.

Most British teenagers are against drugs (drinking and smoking). They only drink occasionally at family parties, weddings.

Parents today understand teenagers better and have better relationships with them than in the past. Teenagers ask their parents for advice.